

Table of Contents

Preface

Introduction: Academic Callings and the Past, Present, and Future of the Canadian University Janice Newson and Claire Polster

PART 1: Against All Reason: Wake-up Calls

- Chapter 1 Are We Losing Our Minds? Unreason in Canadian Universities Today
Claire Polster, Sociologist, University of Regina
- Chapter 2 Beyond Market Self-Serving: Recovering the Academy's Vocation
John McMurtry, Philosopher, University of Guelph
- Chapter 3 The Risk of Critique: Voices across the Generations
Barbara Godard, English Scholar and Humanist, York University
- Chapter 4 We Are Saying Too Much ... and Not Enough
Karen Rudie, Electrical Engineer and Applied Mathematician, Queen's University
- Chapter 5 Unfinished Sonata
Arthur Forer, Biologist, York University
- Chapter 6 Idea and Reality: The University or the Universities
John P. Valleau, Chemist, and Paul Adonis Hamel, Biomedical Scientist, University of Toronto

PART 2: Taking Stock of Personal and Institutional Histories: Calls to Account

- Chapter 7 A Brief Memoir from the Trenches
Andrew Wernick, Cultural Theorist, Trent University
- Chapter 8 A Career against the Grain: An Academic Callings Interview
Dorothy Smith, Sociologist, University of Victoria
- Chapter 9 Living through Revolutionary and Reactionary Times-in the Wrong Order
Roberta Hamilton, Sociologist, Queen's University
- Chapter 10 Force without Reason
Gordon Shrimpton, Classicist, University of Victoria
- Chapter 11 Two Hours Left and Nothing to Say
Bruce Curtis, Sociologist, Carleton University
- Chapter 12 From the Personal to the Political: Some Reflections and Hopes.
Jennie Hornosty, Sociologist, University of New Brunswick

PART 3: Between a Rock and a Hard Place: Calls to Administrative Leadership

- Chapter 13 Yesterday and Today: Universities and the Growth of the Market Model
Howard Woodhouse, Higher Education Theorist and Policy Analyst, University of Saskatchewan
- Chapter 14 A Postcard from the Belly of the Beast
Janice Ristock, Women's and Gender Studies Scholar, University of Manitoba

- Chapter 15 How Can One Be Persian in the Canadian Academy?
Nasrin Rahimieh, Humanist, McMaster University/University of California at Irvine
- Chapter 16 The Paradoxes of Academic Administration
Mary Ellen Purkis, Nurse and Social Practice Theorist, University of Victoria

PART 4: Making Space: Calls to Open Paths

- Chapter 17 Academic Activism and Nomadic Paths
Jamie Magnusson, Critical Theorist, Ontario Institute for Studies in Education/University of Toronto
- Chapter 18 Transforming the University from an Aboriginal Perspective
Jo-ann Archibald, Q'um Q'um Xi'em, University of British Columbia
- Chapter 19 Engaging Race, Anti-racism, and Equity Issues in the Academy: A Personal Odyssey
George J. Sefa Dei, Social Anthropologist and Sociologist, Ontario Institute for Studies in Education/University of Toronto
- Chapter 20 Feminists in Academe: From Outsiders to Insiders?
Joan Sangster, Historian, Trent University
- Chapter 21 An Ode to Wisdom: Got, Don't Got, Borrowed, and Sought
Elizabeth (Bessa) Whitmore, Social Work Educator, Carleton University
- Chapter 22 The University and Its Political Economy: An Academic Callings Interview
Joel Bakan, Legal Scholar, University of British Columbia

PART 5: Re/generating Publics: Calls to Collectivity

- Chapter 23 Exploits in the Undercommons
Alison Hearn, Communications and Media Scholar, University of Western Ontario
- Chapter 24 Academic Freedom, Institutional Autonomy, and the Co-operative University
Len Findlay, English Scholar, University of Saskatchewan
- Chapter 25 The University Public And Its Enemies
Frank Cunningham, Philosopher, University of Toronto
- Chapter 26 Reflections on Teaching and Learning
Margaret-Ann Armour, Chemist and Science Educator, University of Alberta
- Chapter 27 Offside: Playing Hockey at the University of Saskatchewan
Glenis Joyce, Adult Educator, and Liz Quinlan, Sociologist, University of Saskatchewan
- Chapter 28 Making the University Work for Communities
Barbara Neis, Sociologist, Memorial University of Newfoundland Chapter 29
- Chapter 29 Recovering the University as a Collective Project
Janice Newson, Sociologist, York University